LOCAL GARDEN CLUB ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

The Appomattox Garden Club, under the leadership of its president, Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr., announces plans this week for a busy and interesting year. Other officers, who are serving the club for a second year, are: Mrs. K. C. Gregory, vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Ferrell, secretary; Miss Beulah Ferrell, treasurer; Mrs. F. F. Carr, parliamentarian: Mrs. Herman Schweizer, chaplain; and Miss Flora Williams, who is the Junior Garden Club Counsellor.

The club began its season of activities in August with a garden party in the garden of "Longacre," home of Mrs. F. C. Dresser, when four new members were welcomed into the club and presented with corsages made by one of its members, Mrs. Ivey Holland. A horticulture program was presented at the September meeting, when Mrs. Garbee, of Lynchburg spoke on "Hemorocallis," and in May, Mrs. Goode Robinson will talk on "Peonies." In March, Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr. will direct a "A Flower Arrangement Practice Clinic,' at which time each member will bring her flowers, containers, etc., and learn how to make flower arrangements.

A Conservation program will be presented in January, when Mrs. Fred Schilling, of Avon, will talk on "Nature Camp," the youth camp sponsored by the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs. Mrs. Schilling is the Executive Director of the camp, which is the only one of its kind sponsored by any state federation of the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

Mr. Alan C. Forbes, of Guinea Mills, will speak on "Driftwood and its use in making Flower Arrangements" at the February meeting.

"Christmas All Through The House" will be the topic of the speaker, Mrs. W. T. Snead, of Fork Union, for the November meeting, and at the dinner meeting in April, awards for the year will be presented.There will also be an installation service for the new officers at this time and final plans for the annual Flower Show will be discussed. The flower show is scheduled for May and tentative dates of May 20 and 21 have been set.

The highlight of the year will be on April 6, 1956, when the club will present Mrs. Edward L. Alexander, of Newport News in a lecture- demonstration in the new Appomattox Elementary School at 8:00 P. M.

The club hopes to plant more dogwood trees this year and to further its project of "Planting dogwood trees along the Hal Flood Highway from the Town of Appomattox to Old Appomattox Court House" and to add plants to "the cutting garden" at the McLean House.

Plans are being made to begin an intensive campaign in cooperation with "The Associated Clubs of Virginia for Roadside Development" on an "Anti-Litterbug Campaign."

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ivey Holland, who is chairman of Zoning and Roadside Beautification for the club, the cooperation of all citizens in the county will be asked for, not only in cleaning our town and county, but in keeping them clean.

Persons interested in any particular program of the Garden Club are cordially invited to attend that meeting, and anyone interested in Garden Club work who is not a member and would like to be welcomed.

d about the State Fed- y Federation meeting held last week. Laura ng, 4-H members from and 28 other youth from the state, represent- F. F. A. were guests g. There were approx- in attendance at the y interesting and in- ties were heard at this ernor Stanley was the at the President's Friday morning. He importance of poultry irginia's most important ed encouraged all youth their good work in the ects they have started. a study made by Dr. Virginia market eggs mated their investment and equipment at five per layer, with the ment averaging about per year per 100 hens. of this study, it was also that in addition to bet- ter practices, most pro- lower production costs ing the size of the creasing the rate of proving feed efficiency, er labor efficiency, and er mortality.

to work done at the eriment Station, hens produced an average of more eggs than hens with a louse control pro- only one to five cents year, this could amount to 30 to 40 per cent of net income. Artificial your poultry house will ents to lay more eggs ter months when the ost.

Extension Specialists advise to pay close attention to feeding practices during cold weather. Try to maintain or increase the body weight of your birds and avoid sudden changes. The feeding of pullets, or a moist mash at noon will help to bring up egg production and keep up body weight. The feeding of more yellow corn in your grain mixture is also helpful in keeping up body weight. The feeding of home grown whole grains is desirable, but they should not be used until thoroughly cured. The feeding of new grain is injurious to your birds, according to poultry specialists.

Cookies For The Baby

Little cookies, tailored to the needs of the baby who is cutting teeth, may be made at home successfully, the Missouri Experiment Station suggests.

Missouri "teething cookies" feature ingredients that provide nutrients like iron and protein that the baby needs, are non - crumbling and firm enough to keep in cutting teeth, and are small in size for the baby's convenience. Here's a Missouri recipe that makes about 50 2-inch teething cookies and includes egg yolk and molasses. Ingredients:

2 tablespoons each of shortening, brown sugar and molasses;

1 egg yolk, slightly beaten;

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup minus 2 tablespoons sifted flour;

1-4 teaspoon salt

1½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder.

To make— either cream or melt the shortening and add the sugar. Add molasses and egg and vanilla. Sift together dry ingredients and mix into the sugar mixture. Roll to ¼ inch thickness. Cut into rectangular pieces about 1 by 1½ inches. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees .) for 15 to 20 minutes or until lightly browned. If the baby's diet does not include egg, you may substitute 1 tablespoon of milk for egg yolk in this recipe. This recipe makes a stiff dough to roll and bake immediately or to store in refrigerator or freezer to slice and bake at mother's convenience.

"WILLIAMSBURG AWARD" CREATED TO RECOGNIZE STELLAR ACHIEVEMENT

Williamsburg, Va.- The creation of the Williamsburg Award for outstanding achievement in advancing basic principles of liberty and justice was announced this week by the Trustees of Colonial Williamsburg.

At the same time it was announced that Sir Winston Churchill will be the first recipient of the award, which consists of an honorarium of $10,000 and a symbolical town crier's bell.

The award will be made at a ceremony to be held in London, probably in December.

Winthrop Rockefeller, Chairman of the Trustees of Colonial Williamsburg, said that the award will be made periodically to "a person who has influenced the course of national or world events significantly by expressing in sustained action or eloquent and persuasive statement a dedication to liberty and justice for all men.

"The Williamsburg Award has been created as part of Colonial Williamsburg's program to bring new strength in our time to the belief in human liberty and the dignity of the individual which made Williamsburg and its leaders a moving force in colonial America.

"It is our belief," Mr. Rockefeller said, "that these great doctrines of two centuries ago are living convictions today and still have their champions. We feel that this fact should be underscored in our time as a reminder to the living that they are the inheritors of a great faith.

"Sir Winston Churchill, we believe, better exemplifies the principles for which the award stands than any other living person."

In his letter of acceptance, Sir Winston said that "it would be a very great honor for me to become the first recipient of the Williamsburg Award."

Future awards will not be made on an annual basis, but at intervals dictated by the course of national and world events and the emergence of individual champions of liberty and justice.

Bolivia, urging disarmament, among smaller nations, advocates that major world powers use money saved on armament reductions to assist undeveloped countries.

Europeans are pressing a search for natural gas.
